Sen. Bush Urges Re-election of Bricker

Over 200 District Republicans at Dinner Here

United States Senator Prescott Bush "pleaded" with over 200 area Republicans Wednesday evening to "insure the re-election of Senator Bricker."

Bush was featured speaker at a dinner held by the Salem Area Republican Club at the Saxon Club. Sometimes called the "third senator from Ohio," Sen. Bush is campaigning throughout the Buckeye state for the Republican party and, especially, for his good friend Sen. John W. Bricker.

Other speakers at the Wednesday evening dinner were Francis Wallace, candidate for congressman from the 18th district, and Walter Jay Hunston, candidate for state senator.

Bricker Held in Respect

"Ohio," Sen. Bush said, "is universally held in respect by the rest of the country, and Sen. Bricker has served his state continuously."

The tall, Connecticut Republican also mentioned that Bricker is held in such esteem by the national party, that he was the GOP choice for the vice presidency in the 1944 election. In that year, however, the team of Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman were victorious over the Thomas Dewey, Bricker, combination.

"Had Bricker reached the vice presidency," the Ohio-born Bush continued, "the course of world events might have been changed." Sen. Bush said that the Yalta and Potsdam pacts and the treaty which created a split in Germany have plagued the U.S., placing the nation and its allies in a position to be harassed by the Communists.

"No government has ever been under the pressure that our government has been under during the past few years," Bush said. "But, we will not yield to aggression, we will not be bullied."

Policy Stabilizes Mideast
According to the Connecticut Senator, the strong United States policy in Lebanon has stabilized the Mideast and "astounded the Communist leaders."

In reference to the 77 per cent of the national budget, which is spent for defense, Bush expounded the need to be firm. But he stressed the need for economy.

"The Reds," Bush said, "are using our runaway inflation as a weapon against us." The senator said the Democratic party is seeking the "easy way out" by "suicidal" spending.

"The GOP," Bush said, "saved the past year's budget from a catastrophic drop, but it took a house vote and a presidential veto to do it." Bush said that the "reckless fiscal management" by the Democratic party has given our government a "very, very dangerous deficit."

The former member of the United States Committee on Public Works and Banking said that the most important thing for our country to do is to "restore a responsible fiscal government." Without such a government, he concluded, all our guns, planes and ships will not save us from the Reds.

Columbiana Sailor Lost, May Have Gone AWOL

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Navy is looking for Charles L. Shreffler, 18, of Columbiana, Ohio, and Roland Carlton Large, 19, of Torrance, Calif. The two seamen apparently staged a fake drowning last Saturday to cover their trail and are AWOL. The Navy first listed them as missing after their empty rowboat was found anchored in shallow water a mile and a half north of Key West. But a friend later reported seeing them hitchhiking north on U. S. 1.

Nixon Takes Over Brunt of Republican Campaign

Ike Concludes Cross-Country Campaign

By The Associated Press
President Eisenhower concludes his cross-country campaign swing today, accused by Adlai Stevenson of joining Vice President Nixon "in a desperate, intolerable, demagogic type of campaign."

With Eisenhower returning to Washington from his weeklong speaking tour, Nixon again took over the brunt of the Republican campaign for GOP congressional candidates with a swing into New York.

Eisenhower carried on his battle for a Republican Congress Wednesday night in Chicago with a renewed blast at "radical" Democrats and Democratic economic policies.

In the same hard-hitting campaign style he first unveiled in California, he told some 4,500 cheering party workers his administration has licked the recession without "a federal wheel chair," in spite of what he termed "radical demands from congressional Democrats for huge spending programs."

Use of Word 'Radical'
Eisenhower's repeated use of the word "radical" during his tour brought heated criticism from Stevenson. Eisenhower's Democratic presidential opponent in 1952 and 1956.

"The old Nixon has been joined by the new Ike—or a new speech writer—in a desperate, intolerable demagogic type of campaign," Stevenson told a meeting of Democratic precinct chiefs in Chicago.

Joining Eisenhower in praise of administration economic policies, Nixon told New England audiences that radical Democrats will go to Congress if GOP Senate and

Harry Truman Ends Campaign For Harriman

Ex-President Sets Talk in Boston for Democratic Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Give 'em Hell Harry S. Truman wins up his national campaigning today for Democratic congressional candidates with a sentimental journey to Boston.

The ex-President didn't sound half as tough as some of his campaign oratory might imply as he explained the purpose of his trip to the hub where Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) appeared suzerainly confident of re-election.

Truman's motives were simple. Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass.) House majority leader, is a close personal friend and was his loyal supporter when he was in the White House.

In Honor of McCormack
And, since tonight's dinner in Boston is in honor of McCormack's nephew, State Atty. Gen. Edward McCormack — now serving by appointment and a candidate for election—Truman thought it only right for him to join in the celebration.

It was the same sort of sentimental streak that brought the 74-year-old Democratic campaigner hurrying back to New York Wednesday night to put in a few more licks for Gov. Averell Harriman.

Harriman, his former secretary of commerce and diplomat, is in the midst of a hectic fight for re-election against Nelson Rockefeller and, as if everybody didn't know already, Truman wanted to make it clear where he stood.

Truman went into Harlem, where as an advocate of civil rights he has a big following, to say that Harriman is a friend of the Negroes, "and if you don't go along with your friends you'll deserve what you get."

Truman is expected to develop the civil rights theme further in his address in Boston tonight. He hasn't any more political speeches in mind until he winds up his campaigning with a major talk in St. Louis the Saturday night before election.

Radio Signals Are Lost

Balloon Satellite Is Apparently Lost

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — America's first balloon satellite apparently was lost in the vastness of space today, and no one knew just why.

The Army launched a Jupiter-C rocket Wednesday night containing the collapsed 12-foot-diameter sphere, an tracked it by radio for about six minutes.

Then the signals went dead. Early today, military and civilian scientists in charge acknowledged that "it is practically certain the experiment was not successful and an orbit was not achieved."

"Radio records received from the satellite instrument package show the performance of the rocket was not normal," they said.

It was a disheartening end to an ambitious project for hurling into an 18,000-m.p.h. orbit around the earth an object which would be visible to the unaided human eye at distances up to 1,500 miles.

By tracking it from observation points in many lands, scientists had hoped to learn much about the mysteries of that remote area where the earth's atmosphere ends and interplanetary space begins.

And they had hoped to gain experience to help with an even more spectacular undertaking: a 100-foot balloon satellite off which radio, television and radar signals could be bounced.

That might be attempted next year.

It looked like a perfect shot Wednesday night. The launching rocket, 69 feet tall, thundered aloft from this missile test center at 10:21 p. m.

It climbed straight upward, a firebrand in the sky, for 75 seconds, then angled over to the southeast exactly as had been planned.

For another minute it was a bright moving star against a backdrop of moonlight and starry sky and then it winked out about 2 1/2 minutes after blastoff—again apparently exactly according to schedule.

The first stage of the Jupiter-C was a modified Redstone rocket. After burnout some 60 miles above the earth the spent Redstone was to have coasted upward with the three upper stages—and the satellite payload in the nose—for four minutes, to an altitude of 200 miles, and then was to have fallen away as the upper-stage firings began.

An hour after the launching, newsmen at the site were told that "signals from the rocket were lost approximately 10 seconds before the second stage was scheduled to fire. Therefore it is unknown at the present time whether or not an orbit will be achieved."

Police Chief Exam Scheduled Nov. 6

A Civil Service examination to fill the post of police chief will be held at City Hall Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p. m., Civil Service Commission Clerk Roy W. Harris announced today.

Applications to take the test must be turned in to the commission no later than Monday, Nov. 3, Harris said. A $1 fee will be charged.

According to the Ohio General Code, only policemen in the next two lower grades—Capt. Howard Forney and Lt. Martin Lutsch Jr. will be eligible to take the exam, Harris stated.

The vacancy was created by the death Sept. 26 of Chief George T. Earley.

Harris said after the chief's post is filled, an exam will be held to determine who will occupy the position vacated by Chief Earley's successor.

Jerry Hisey, 21, Victim of Early Morning Crash

Auto Goes Out of Control On Rt. 344, Outside of Leetonia

Jerry L. Hisey, 21, of N. Lisbon St., Leetonia was killed at 1:10 a. m. today when he lost control of his car which careened off the road and crashed into a tree on Rt. 344, three-tenths of a mile east of Leetonia.

State highway patrolmen said Hisey's car, traveling at a high rate of speed, swerved off the right side of the road.

As the driver tried to regain the highway, he lost control of the vehicle which smashed into a tree, patrolmen said. He was alone when the mishap occurred.

Patrolmen, ambulance attendants and wrecker crews worked 45 minutes before they were able to extricate the victim's body from the crushed car.

The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital. He had suffered a fracture of the skull, compound fracture of the leg and multiple face lacerations. Hisey's auto was demolished.

Born in Leetonia, Nov. 4, 1936, he was the son of Beatrice Rouse Hisey and the late Lester Hisey.

A member of the Methodist Church, he had served 18 months in Germany with the Army Signal Corps, and was discharged a year ago. He was employed by the City Radio and Television in Columbiana.

Besides his mother, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Lester Johnson of Leetonia; and a brother, Jack, at home.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Woods Funeral Home.

Russian Author Is Nobel Winner

Pasternak Wrote 'Doctor Zhivago'

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Boris Pasternak, the Russian poet and author of the anti-Communist novel "Doctor Zhivago," today was awarded the 1958 Nobel Prize in Literature.

The award was the most dramatic in years. The 68-year-old author still lives just outside Moscow. The Soviet government has not permitted publication in Russia of his monumental novel about what communism has done to freedom and tried to prevent its publication abroad.

Slap in Face

The award, worth $41,420, was certain to be interpreted by many as a slap in the face for the Soviet government. There was speculation that the Soviet authorities would not allow Pasternak to receive his prize, or would take reprisals against him.

Known as the greatest living poet writing in the Russian language, Pasternak despaired of publishing creative writing of his own under Stalin and for years devoted himself to translations of such foreign classics as Goethe and Shakespeare.

"Doctor Zhivago"—upon which he had been working quietly for 10 years—was completed in 1956 during the de-Stalinization period of comparative freedom for writers. But to make certain it was published, he sent it abroad by a friend.

Gov. Faubus Upholds Closing of Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday night it was better for Little Rock Central High School to be closed than demolished.

Faubus told a meeting of educators the South is not ready to accept integration. He closed Central High and Little Rock's three other high schools last month to avert court-ordered racial mixing of classes.

"It's better that it (Central) be empty than to be demolished, and that's what will happen when people like me are gone," the governor said.

In his address to a regional conference of the National Assn. of Guidance Supervisors and Counselor Trainers at nearby Hot Springs, Ark., Faubus also struck at the U.S. Supreme Court.

"It seems that Communists can get more consideration in the United States than a white segregationist can, sometimes," Faubus asserted.

Meanwhile, enrollment of sophomores was scheduled at the Little Rock Private School Corp.'s all-white high school today. About 240 juniors registered Wednesday.

Communique Ends Dulles Talks

Chiang Eyes China But Not 'By Force'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek today renounced the use of force as the principal means of returning to the Communist-held Chinese mainland.

In a joint communique ending three days of talks with Secretary of State Dulles, Chiang said a return to the mainland is still his sacred mission but "the foundation of this mission resides in the minds and the hearts of the Chinese people."

The principal means of successfully achieving that mission is through nationalism, democracy and social well-being, "and not the use of force," the communique said.

The communique also went a step closer toward an American commitment to defend the Nationalist-held offshore islands, although it did not make such a flat commitment.

The statement said that the United States and the Nationalist regime "recognized that under present conditions the defense of the Quemoy together with the Matsus is closely related to the defense of Taiwan (Formosa) and Penghu (the Pescadore Islands) in the Formosa Strait."

This was interpreted as a new warning that any Red attempt to take the offshore islands might provoke U.S. intervention.

Dulles left by KC135 jet tanker for Washington after he and Chiang drew up the communique in their fifth meeting since Tuesday.

Draws Allies Together
The communique said the renewed Communist bombardment of the Quemoy group and the Red propaganda campaign to divide the United States and Nationalist China had instead drawn the two allies closer together.

The Chinese Communists and their Soviet backers "cannot possibly succeed" in trying to conquer Formosa, eliminate Nationalist China and expel the United States from the western Pacific, the communique declared.

"It is hoped and believed that the Communists, faced by the proven unity, resolution and strength of the U.S. and Nationalist governments, will not put their policy to the test of general war and that they will abandon their military steps they have already taken to initiate their futile and dangerous policy," it said.

Both governments noted that the U.S.-Nationalist military aid treaty "is defensive in character."

However, the Nationalist renunciation of force was interpreted in Taipei as not applying in case the mainland is shaken up by a major revolt against Communist rule. Nationalist leaders have continually insisted that a revolt would come and have stepped up such predictions since Red China re-

Warren Police Seek Murderer

Body Discovered In Cedar Lake

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Having answered one "who?"—identity of a man's body found in a lake southwest of here Tuesday — authorities today sought answer to another "who?"—identity of the man who killed him.

The man's body was identified positively Wednesday as that of Richard Brown, 22, a carpenter who lived just over the Trumbull County line in Mahoning County near Mineral Ridge. His wife, Carole, 21, and his father, Thomas Brown of Austintown, made the identification.

Mahoning County's chief deputy, Frank Reese, said Mrs. Brown told him she last saw her husband about 10 p.m. Oct. 10. But it was not until last Saturday that she reported him missing. She said he left to meet someone and had at least $500 with him.

With Brown's body was found floating on Cedar Lake, a private lake south of Lordstown, there was a bullet hole in his head, and Coroner Harry Elston Jr. said it "looks like homicide, not suicide."

Brown and his wife, who from May, 1957, until last month was secretary of Carpenters Local 171, were accused in the embezzlement of $14,645 in union funds. The charges, brought in late August, involved appropriation of three signed checks. The pair had been freed on bond, pending disposition of the charges.

200 Hear Sen. Bush At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — About 200 persons attended a Town Hall meeting at the American Legion Home Wednesday afternoon to hear a talk by U. S. Senator Prescott Bush.

Sen. Bush pleaded for the election of a Republican Congress "if President Eisenhower's program is to be carried out."

The senator rapped the major expenditures voted at the last session of Congress to help offset the recession. He said the recession was practically over before most of the measures went into effect.

County Commissioner Walter A. Hunsdon of East Palestine was program chairman.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Seldom can it be written that charity fund raisers look a gift horse in the mouth even if it be driven by a Teamster bearing heavy cash donations.

Apparently the United Cerebral Palsy Committee of New York has misread the Apostle Peter and revised the Bible to read that charity covers the multitude of sinners.

For last Thursday night a crippled child sat through a Cerebral Palsy fund-raising banquet jointly sponsored by the outfit and the Teamsters. The lad finally got his chance to thank the gay overflow crowd at the Hotel Commodore—but not until the same Teamsters' hand, after turning over $50,000 to the charity, swung a one-two slap at the federal courts, the U.S. Senate, jacket-busing committee, the monitors over the union, and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The lad merely took his cue from his elders on the Cerebral Palsy Committee, who sat quietly there on the dais right through it all.

THE AROMA of unsweetened charity and a densely packed crowd must have confused the United Cerebral Palsy officials. They forgot that the national AFL-CIO, at George Meany's direction, plugs their charity over the AFL-CIO's coast-to-coast radio broadcasts which have 300 outlets across the land.

But it should at least be reported that at this testimonial dinner to James Hoffa's close friend, New York Teamster chief Johnny O'Rourke, the New York Teamsters raised 50 times as much for Cerebral Palsy in one night as the Teamsters' national headquarters has given to all charities in six months.

The Teamster national headquarters' financial statement reveals that in the six months period ending June 30, 1958, they donated $1,831,722 to public causes. But then charity does begin at home to these boys. The same financial statement lists the total of legal fees as $198,706.58 and public relations costs as $29,282.01 in that same six-month period.

WHILE the United Cerebral Palsy people fidgeted on the dais, Jim Hoffa and a series of national Teamster leaders spoke of their own sufferings, too. This came as a surprise to many.

In all the weeks that the testimonial fund raising dinner had been publicized in subway cards and posters, not a single critic of the Teamsters had spoken out against the venture. There was a firm belief that there would be no trespassing the bounds of charity—and that this would be merely a fund raising dinner for the sole purpose of helping afflicted kids.

There was this tacit understanding, though it was known that the hall would be packed with veterans of the McClellan wars. And packed in with them, spilling out of the upper and lower sections of the main ballroom of the hotel into an auxiliary ballroom, were many of the local leaders of the big town's AFL-CIO organizations from which the Teamsters had been expelled.

These AFL-CIO leaders who turned out for the testimonial to Johnny O'Rourke represented locals from at least 19 international unions. They ranged from spokesmen for the Construction Trades Unions to officials of the Hotel and Restaurant Trades, to Theatrical and Stage Hands Union leaders to Operating Engineers chiefs. They sat and gaily drank and broke bread with leaders of outfits expelled from the AFL-CIO—such as the Bakers, the Longshoremen and, of course, the Teamsters.

THEY SAT RIGHT through the long attacks on their national leaders, George Meany. Nor were these merely philosophical phrases hurled at the AFL-CIO. Meany was attacked personally. The insults were as high as the whisky and soda bottles. But no one budged.

Many of the union officials who came were of the old line. Their old buddy was being honored by a committee of his peers—and followers. They could have donated their money directly to the charity. Yet they came and sat and testified while their own leader, George Meany, was being vilified in the name of charity.

It is ironic that in a few days, in the same hotel, some of the men who heard Meany attacked will be sitting with him, planning strategy against the Teamsters. These are the same leaders who complain constantly that the press, the pub-

The regular meeting of Goshen Grange was held Friday night with James Hollinger, master, presiding.

It was announced that Miss Patricia Rhodes, a grange member, was named the Mahoning County princess. She is presently attending a state grange meeting in Cleveland.

Several contests are being planned to stimulate attendance at the meetings. One is between the men and women, and the other one is to bring members who have not attended a meeting for a year.

Members decided to conduct card games following each meeting. The committee in charge consists of Richard Bryan, chairman, Mrs. Richard Rhodes and Mrs. Roland Chaffee.

Mrs. John Hrvatin, lecturer, presented the program which included a song, "Away Back Deep in the Dark, Dark Woods" by Karen Krvatin; poem, "Five Little Pumpkins" by Mrs. Richard Bryan.

In keeping with the Halloween theme, a masquerade party was held. The panel members were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Schaefer, Jack Hollinger, Mrs. James Hollinger, John Kehrer, Martha Miskimins, Sandy Herbert and Don Starbuck. The masqueraders were Mrs. Roy Hively, Richard Rhodes, Mrs. Ray Starbuck and Richard Bryan. Roland Chaffee served as moderator.

No One Knows But the Voters

There are beginning to be uneasy doubts about some of the sweeping guesses which have been made about the intentions of voters this year.

Cautious guessers are remembering the presidential election in 1948 when what supposedly was going to be a cut-and-dried election went contrary to pre-election guesswork. They are warning that it could happen again in 1958.

Though there is no line of division this time as sharp as the line that separated Harry S. Truman and Thomas E. Dewey, the separation of voters into conflicting camps of opinion could upset many prevailing forecasts.

These have been running against Republican candidates, generally speaking, and in favor of Democratic candidates, particularly those candidates who claim strong backing by the political departments of labor unions.

REPUBLICANS, it has been pointed out by the pollsters and sages, are suffering from organizational apathy. They do not have the theoretical benefit that Democrats have, it is reasoned, because they lack the funds and the disciplined efforts of the labor unions' Committee on Public Education.

Republicans, themselves, have felt they were at a disadvantage in this respect. Both President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have gone on the political stump for the express purpose of overcoming Republican defeatism.

Their success will be unknown until the votes are counted. But whether or not they have substantial effect as individuals, there could be an upsurge on Nov. 4 that would serve the same purpose.

It could be an upsurge of silent voters—the kind who do not talk. It could be a surprise demonstration in a state like Ohio of the previously proved fact that there is no such thing as a labor vote; that men and women who work for wages vote as they please, taking no orders from anyone.

It could be a turnout at the polls of thousands of voters who did not have to be registered through an intensive registration drive, because they never have let their registration lapse.

It could be some unpredicted division of opinion over an emotional issue that came to the fore in the closing days of the campaign.

It could be the manifestation of last-minute determination to upset the appearances of candidates and backers who were visibly overconfident.

IN CONTESTS and showdowns where the issue was presented in a way to make it appear that union leadership at the national level was qualified to take over political leadership, it could be a grim resolve not to give union leadership a mandate to take over anything until it had purged itself of its Fifth Amendment faction.

Or it could be the age-old instinct to stand up for the underdog when the odds are stacked against him.

No one knows but the voters what is going to happen at the polls on Nov. 4, just as no one but the voters can know how the ballots were marked when the polls were open.

Red Chinese Play the 'Shell Game'

Red China's nerve-wracking version of the "shell game" has been resumed at the expense of the inhabitants of Quemoy and the hope of a peaceful settlement of Communist claims to Quemoy and other offshore islands also claimed by Chinese Nationalists.

As in the original "shell game," the Communists have the advantage of knowing what they are going to do while the other side must try to outguess them. They hold the initiative. Nationalists are limited to defense, but the Communists have no worries about defense. They can concentrate on attack, when, if and where it suits them to attack.

This is the dilemma in which the United States, honoring its commitment to defend Formosa, must exist as long as control of the offshore islands remains in a state of uncertainty. It is a typical quandary in this era of antagonism between international Communism and all nations which have renounced aggression as an instrument of national policy.

The Communists always have the advantage.

Just a Barefoot Boy

Thanks to Associated Press, millions now share the curiosity of loggers, hunters, bulldozer operators and so on about king-sized footprints they have been finding near Eureka, Calif.

Two points must be noted. First, these are five-toed prints. Second, they are approximately 16 inches long and 7 inches wide. They must belong to an outsize specimen of the human race.

There is no "abominable snowman" involved. There is not even an "adominal snowman" lurking in the mystery; there is no cold front. Yet, there is an obvious suspect. Thirty seconds with a ruler will show that a footprint 16 inches long and 7 inches wide is about right for any one of millions of big-footed teen-agers, who are notorious for having the biggest underpinning in human history. The only mystery is what the kid is doing near Eureka, Calif., in his bare feet. Maybe someone stole his old blue suede shoes.

Once Over

Official news of how things are going with the race horse presented to Khrushchev is lacking, but we hear horse has been named "SPUTNAG." (Original idea was to call him "Big Red" but this was vetoed by reminder name had been given to Man O'War, a capitalist steed.)

Nikita's skinner is reported the most nervous animal in world. He knows what bad morning trials could mean. "Sputnag" will be trained under the "Or Else" system, with frequent suggestions from Pravda. We can see Nikita now, watching the workouts.

If the beetle does well, okay. If not he will be escorted back to barn by police, with subsequent investigation and confessions by horse and trainer.

Our information is that Sputnag will be pointed for Moscow Futurity and Minsk-Pinsk Derby, under a three-year plan. You can imagine the Soviet Derby, with jockey bidding farewell to relatives and friends, just in case. Post parade will be tense, especially for bettors revealing wagers on another plug. Then the cry of "They're off" in Russian, causing suspense in all the capitals of the earth. If his horse wins Khrush will put a mouse in its saddle and enter it in the first Orbit Sweepstakes, hoping to send the first thoroughbred around the world, carrying 134 pounds.

If a loser, the horse will wind up hauling salt in Siberia. The jockey will face a firing squad. (Hope photo finish can be avoided showing Khrush's bag second. Who wants a race official track photographer bumped off?)

There is always the chance Russia will demand that horse testing cease. To question, "How can a crooked horse be detected?" Khrushchev replied, "The way mine runs age of knowing what they intend to do next; the non-aggressor governments must try to guess.

The non-aggressors cannot commit aggression. They are not even organized to meet aggression when it is committed. They can only react when aggression breaks out to the newest and latest affront to the doctrine of non-aggression.

This puts their statesmen at a cruel and one-sided disadvantage. They have no way to retaliate, short of war, except to seek terms of peaceful settlement. If they so much as mention the possibility of war as a last resort, there is a violent anti-war reaction among their citizens.

Secretary of State Dulles was on his way to Formosa when the shelling of Quemoy was resumed. He was hoping for fruitful negotiations that would neutralize Quemoy as a possible source of war. It was in character for the Chinese Communists to serve notice that they intended to negotiate with guns, not with good will.

No Riot Squad for U. N.

Whether his decision to recommend no standby military force for the United Nations was reached before or after U.S. intervention in Lebanon, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is firm about it in his up-to-date report to the General Assembly.

This will disappoint all of us who had made up our minds that the best way to discourage troublemakers would be to have a U.N. riot squad all set up and ready to go on a few days' notice. But there is logic in the Hammarskjöld point of view.

What is needed to keep the peace, he explains, is not a riot squad but a predetermined willingness to do whatever may be necessary at the moment of crisis. It will be remembered that the secretary general deplored military intervention in Lebanon; he thought the problems there could have been dealt with better by beefing up the U.N. commission already on the scene.

It is beginning to be apparent that the business peacemaker of a troubled era has ideas about keeping the peace that go far beyond force to discourage force.

there is time enough to check by slow mail."

Possible chart summary:
There was delay getting horses to paddock because of the slight lameness of Sputnag, charged to an imperialistist plot. Horse worked out of it and seemed fit going to post, except for feverish mood. Break was good. Sputnag was off well, but was challenged by Ivan's Boy and Volga Boatman, who didn't realize what they were doing. Ural Knight took lead at far turn, but jockey jumped off to escape consequences. Coming into stretch Sputnag was all by himself in interest of peace and non-violence. At the wire Sputnag was winner by two orbits. Other horses had leaped the fence and decided to become jumpers, showing genuine equine smartness.

Blood Donor Really Knows

Once again it is time for the Red Cross Blood Mobile unit to visit Salem. Will we meet our quota this time, or will we find that the mobile unit has dropped us for that is what will happen to Salem in the near future if we do not all cooperate in this wonderful opportunity. To donate your blood so that a child may live is a small thing to be asked to do.

Last spring, I suddenly found myself in the hospital. I was a grateful recipient of blood given through the Red Cross. I humbly thank the unknown person who took time from a busy day to donate the blood I received. As a registered nurse, I have helped give blood transfusions many times, but now the shoe was on the other foot.

There is absolutely no charge for the blood itself. The only expense to me was a small fee to the hospital for processing the equipment used. That is a far cry from the $25 to $50 would have had to pay were Salem not included in the Red Cross Bloodmobile program.

Doesn't the Bible say, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." This time, let's all that are able give and go over the quota. Don't let Salem go back to the pre-war days of paying in cold cash for blood that could so easily be given by most of us.

My husband belongs to the gallop club and I gave before my illness. Make it a husband and wife team and both give.

Again I say thanks to the Red Cross for helping me in time of need.

work in the Empire State.

With the powerful aid of a most expensive buildup, paid out of tax-exempt foundation money and a Park and Madison avenue advertising drive of mammoth proportions, Nelson Rockefeller was railroaded to the nomination for governor over the recumbent bodies of two real Republicans who deserved much from their party. Republican district leaders, hungry for something to fill their depleted treasuries and patronage piles, flocked to this emblem of affluence.

Harlem Republican leaders had vision of beguiling constituents by parading a candidate who would be advertised as the man who cure hookworm back in 1909 (when Nelson was in the cradle). There was also Rockefeller Center, shining monument of universal benevolence and expensive office space.

ROCKEFELLER'S campaign advertising has plastered the state. I have carefully scrutinized the posters, billboards and bus ads and have failed to find the word "Republican" mentioned. A few include the name of Keating, Republican candidate for U.S. senator. But no mention is made of the other people on the ticket nominated with Rockefeller at the Republican convention in August. Such inspired clichés abound as "Put go in government," and typographical arrangements of "Vim, Victory, Vision, Vigor," etc. What we are witnessing is a well-developed Park-Madison blitz similar to those which assured defeat for Wilkie in 1940 and won an empty (for the party) victory for General Eisenhower in 1952 over Taft.

It is assumed by the Rockefeller supporters that if California is lost to the Republican Party with consequent embarrassment to Vice President Nixon, and Rockefeller wins in New York, the way will be cleared for another stampede over the decayed remains of traditional Republicans in 1960.

Democrats in New York could have miseries. But as compared with the insidious malignancy that threatens the Republican Party nationally their is a mere case of strawberry hives.

Harriman is not a popular governor, but there is nothing special against him except the condition of New York's finances. That matters little to voters this year. His meek and speeches make one think of a mortician lecturing on rigor mortis. But he has an organization behind him.

Republicans who know their business realize what is happening. They view the possibility of a victory for their candidate for governor with the same foreboding with which Pyrrhus looked to the future after slaughtering the Romans at Heraclea (incidentally, with the aid of elephants). "Another such victory and I shall be ruined."

ROCKEFELLER'S promises rival the abundance of his grandpa's benefices. Free medical and hospital treatment for all. More highways. Boss, disease, and crime eradication. Subsidized housing for lower, middle, and other kinds of people.

His belief in housing is proved by the advertising of his own five or six or more mansions of his own. Unfortunately, Harriman has given away the castle his father built.

Reporters marvel that men reared on bread and milk—in the family tradition—can down pizzas, fettite fish, bagels and borscht with so much relish. While Rockefeller rustles up votes in the corner delicatessen, Harriman, arriving breathless and demanding more of the same, narrowly escapes riot in a supermarket.

There is a certain Philistinism in the reports of how Rockefeller, the child of fortune, should move about a common restaurant and grasp the floury hand of the cook. Of course, every political ham, from Glenn Taylor to Pappy O'Daniel, has done that for ages.

Rich men like Harriman and Rockefeller don't campaign very well, but, as Samuel Johnson reminded us, a dog doesn't walk well on his hind legs. The marvel is that he can do it at all.

Toward Conservatism

By DAVID LAWRENCI

Ike Has Accepted Path of Sound Economics

President Eisenhower made the best political speech of his career at Los Angeles. It was a great speech because for the first time he outlined clearly the difference between the radicals and the conservatives in America today.

If Mr. Eisenhower could have stressed this theme earlier in his administration, it would have prevented much of the factionalism that has weakened his party. But the significant thing is that the President has definitely accepted the path of sound economics and sound fiscal policy as well as firmness in international affairs as basic Republicanism.

He also has supplemented what Vice President Nixon has been saying—that peace cannot be assured by any policies of surrender and that the way to deal with Communism is to stand up to it, instead of retreating under its pressures.

"Let's consider a significant fact," said the President. "The Democrat party is not one—but two—political parties with the same name. They unite only once every two years—to wage political campaigns."

"At one extreme is a wing whose campaigns were largely settled in Southern primaries held weeks ago. At the other extreme is the stronger wing, dominated by political radicals. The campaigns of this wing are still going on."

"These self-styled liberals are the ones who really challenge sane, sound, forward-looking government in the United States. It is against the spread of their radical influence that we are waging this campaign."

THE PRESIDENT did not touch on the issue of compulsory unionization, but he did blast away at labor-union racketeering and blamed the Democrats for failing to put through strong enough legislation to cope with corruption in unions. He said:

"My friends—to protect American workers and businessmen—to conserve strong, clean trade-unions—the nation needs a Congress determined to settle this issue. That means America needs a Republican Congress."

The President minced no words in inveighing against federal control and socialization of industry. He said the radical Democrats are the ones who try to vest more and more authority in the federal government and "who turn to federal power even where private power can do the job — to governmental housing where private housing can meet the need — to federal domination of agriculture rather than trusting to the initiative and freedom of the farmer—to federal development of nuclear energy rather than private development will best serve the interests of the United States."

That's a complete platform of conservatism almost in itself and the President didn't pull any political punches as he added:

"As a result, the opposition record is one of ever higher taxes, of dollars worth 50 cents, of sky-high prices, of an economy harassed into producing fewer jobs, chronic unemployment, labor strife and fear of the future."

AS MR. EISENHOWER sketched his conception of the two rival wings in the Democratic party, he concluded with this statement: "One is spendthrift — the other conservative. In short, our opposition can offer America only deadlocked government — government that wages war on itself."

This mention of "deadlocked government" is somewhat belated. There has been no question about the political opposition which the President has encountered since 1954 from a Congress controlled by the Democratic party. He, therefore, declared:

"This campaign, then, gives us a critical choice. Either we choose left-wing government or sensible, forward-looking government — spendthrift government or responsible government — overpowering federal government or government kept close to home — frustrated, stymied government or efficient government able to keep its promise to America."

The President obviously is endeavoring to woo conservative Republicans back to the fold. His speech is the kind they like to hear.

Some will remain skeptical, wondering if the precepts will be fulfilled in future policies. The chances are they will be.

It is apparent that Mr. Eisenhower is himself somewhat disillusioned by "modern Republicanism," if by this is meant an imitation of the New Deal and the Fair Deal in their spending habits that disregard the cost to the taxpayer.

The President has a good chance to reunite the factions in his party in the next two years. Irrespective of the outcome of the present congressional campaign, Mr. Eisenhower has blazed the trail for the 1960 contest.

He has cast his die on the side of truly liberal and progressive doctrine which means sound conservatism as opposed to radicalism and socialism.

Gross National Product

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The kingpin of all the measures of good times or bad in the United States is the gross national product. It is widely accepted by businessmen and economists as giving the best picture of the economy at the moment.

But some economists have challenged its accuracy and doubt if it gives a complete picture of where we stand. And probably many Americans have only a vague notion of what it is or how it is computed.

The short definition for GNP usually used is: The dollar value of all goods and services produced in the nation.

President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers has just predicted that GNP will hit a record annual rate of 450 billion dollars by the end of this year — a comforting thought for all, except for those whose own businesses aren't booming and for the more than four million who are out of work.

The GNP is made up of the best statistics and estimates available to the Commerce Department. The first announcements often have to be revised as later figures come in. And a rise in GNP could reflect a rise in prices quite as much as any gain in business activity.

What are the components of GNP?

First and biggest are personal consumption expenditures, which at present are reported to be running at an annual rate of 232 billion dollars. This is an estimate of what people are spending for durable goods like autos and household appliances, what they are spending for nondurable goods like clothing and food, and what they are spending for services like electricity and rent and medical care.

The next item is gross private domestic investment. This includes spending on construction of nonfarm homes or apartment houses and the cost of all other kinds of building. What business is investing in durable equipment also goes into this figure or estimate.

Then the department gathers data on business inventories. If they are rising as they were a year ago the change from the previous three months period is added onto GNP. If they are falling as they have been for some time the change from the last period is subtracted from GNP. The change in the last three months was a minus four billion dollars at an annual rate.

Then the department adds in what it has been able to find out about net foreign investment — what American businessmen or individuals have spent on their holdings abroad.

Finally it looks at government purchases. Here the figures are more easily come by. And over the past year they have been rising.

The latest figures show federal spending on goods and services running at 53 billion dollars a year and state and local spending running at 40 billion. With the federal budget approaching the 80 billion dollar a year level, it is obvious that not all outgo adds to gross national product.

The value of GNP is that it gives estimates of three things: The value produced, the incomes earned, and the spending done.

Critics say it leaves out of account some other kinds of economic activity. And they list the exchange of used cars, houses, land, or of stocks, bonds, mortgages and other credit instruments.

They also stress the distortions caused by changing prices when GNP is used as gospel for where the economy is and where it's headed.

Vice President Directing GOP

Nixon 'Takes Over' Republican Campaign

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon has taken over direction of the Republican party's campaign and, one way or another, it should have a profound effect on his personal political future.

Nixon could have held aloof and quietly husbanded his strength for the presidential race in 1960. Instead, he chose to pitch in with exertions matching in frequency and vehemence his campaign efforts in 1954 when, as now, he was not a candidate.

The tide seems to be running against the Republicans. Democrats confidently predict big gains in both House and Senate and even control of California, second only to New York in political importance.

A Democratic landslide despite Nixon's efforts might tarnish his prospects in 1960. By closely identifying himself with the 1958 campaign, he has taken the risk of being so deeply snowed under that he might not be able to dig himself out in time for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence.

On the other hand, he might be better off if he can demonstrate enough political dynamism to narrow the margin of defeat if not stave it off entirely. In that case he might emerge as the rallying point for a revitalized GOP drive in 1960.

Nixon's determination to make a fight of it got him involved last week in a curious kind of public debate with the titular head of the party, President Eisenhower. In the upshot both Eisenhower and his chief Cabinet officer, Secretary of State Dulles, backtracked, and Nixon had his way.

Nixon's campaign oratory was stingingly sharp. He accused the Truman administration of being spendthrift and yet miserly with defense funds. He said it "spent more on peanuts than on missiles."

When the Democrats published a manifesto critical of Eisenhower foreign policy, Nixon fired back that "the Acheson foreign policy resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace."

In the wake of this, Eisenhower and Dulles told their news conferences they hoped foreign policy would be kept out of the campaign. They appeared to frown on Nixon's slashing statements. But, after the vice president had a number of telephone conversations with Washington, they announced full support for him.

Eisenhower sent Nixon a telegram saying no one could outdo Nixon when it came to defending the administration against Democratic attacks on its foreign policy. Eisenhower generally has let Nixon do the campaign talking about domestic affairs, and the telegram seemed to give him a go-ahead in full.

Mrs. George Smith

Woman Attributes 100 Years of Life To Herb Medicines

A woman born in a western Kentucky settlement will celebrate her 100th birthday at the Columbiana County Home near Lisbon Saturday.

The centenarian, Mrs. Mary Smith, is the daughter of Harmon Smith, a Confederate soldier killed just before General Lee surrendered in 1865, and Annie Elam Snowden Smith.

After her husband's death, Mary's mother sold their land in western Kentucky, where, Mary says, she knew the Lincoln and Hanks families, and they all (Mary had 11 older brothers) moved to Carter County, W. Va. where the children's grandparents lived.

In 1936 Mary and her husband, George Washington Ranville Smith came to the county home from Steubenville. Mary had fractured her hip, and she was taken to the Home for care and attention.

Her husband, who later died at the home, was a highway construction engineer. Together they traveled all over the United States, and they once made a trip to England. The Smiths had no children.

Although Mary is a graduate nurse ("I received my training in Philadelphia at an asylum on Warren St."), she possesses a vast knowledge of more ancient methods of healing.

Until a year ago she periodically went into the woods and fields to dig roots, pick berries and barks which she brewed into teas and tonics, or "bitters." She claims that "right after Halloween is the best time to gather herbs."

Residents at the home say that her knowledge and use of herbs has seen many a patient through severe illnesses. And Mary attributes her own long life and good health to her use of herb medicines.

Paul Yarwood, a custodian at the home, and Russell Phillips, acting superintendent, say they are afraid to permit Mary the freedom of hunting for herbs today lest she injure herself, a restriction which aggravates her considerably.

One of Mary's memories goes back to the day when her family took a trip to Washington, D.C. where she saw President Lincoln. She hopes to gather a good many more pleasant memories. After all, she points out, her mother lived until she was 106 and her great-grandfather, William Snowden, celebrated his 125th birthday.

We're Big and Getting Bigger--

The U.S. population has whistled upward at a spectacular rate to pass the 175-million mark—17 million more than were around when President Eisenhower was inaugurated in 1953, nearly 170 million more than the postcolonial states boasted in 1800 when Napoleon was France's first consul and reaching for an emperor's crown. Thirty years later saw the first Mormon Church organized by Joseph Smith in Fayette, N.Y.; we then numbered over 12 million. In 1860 the Civil War clouds were gathering as South Carolina seceded from the Union which embraced over 31 million. Ellis Island opened in New York as an immigration depot in 1890, when the population was almost 63 million. The great flood of new citizens helped push the figure to over 105 million in 1920, the year the League of Nations began in Geneva, Switzerland. More than 150,000,000 of us got the news in 1950 that Brink's, Inc., had been robbed of $2,775,395.12. And this year the counter clicked on while the Pioneer moon rocket sped up and up—symbolic, perhaps, of America's population of the future.

'Old Reliable'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Give the best you can," said Donald Crisp. "Whatever you do, do it thoroughly and all out for whatever wages you get. That is the oatmeal and groats of living."

At 78, Crisp, filmdom's "Old Reliable," doesn't have to worry where his next bowl of oatmeal is coming from. In his 32-year career he has been everything from a prop boy to a financial prop of the motion picture industry, and today he is fated one of Hollywood's wealthier figures.

Some 374 performances before the camera—the latest as the cardinal in John Ford's new Columbia release, "The Last Hurrah"—have stamped Crisp as one of the greatest and best-loved movie character actors. He won an Oscar in "How Green Was My Valley."

But the public tends to forget that Crisp also was a pretty fine director. Among the 100 films he directed was "The Mark of Zorro" with Douglas Fairbanks and "Svengali," with John Barrymore. "The best move I ever made was to stop directing back in 1929," said Crisp cheerfully. "At that time everybody was trying to get into pictures—not only the banker, but the banker's daughter."

Crisp, a bank director himself, has always been a canny man with a buck and helped arrange the financing of many pictures over the years.

Born in Scotland, he fought in the Boer War, then saved for more than five years to earn his passage to America in 1906.

"The day I arrived I deposited $53 in a New York bank," he remarked, "and it's still there."

One of his first acting chores was in the 1908 release of "The French Maid," made by the Biograph-Mutoscope Co.

A Hollywood pioneer from the start, he loves to recall the early days. . . . When he loaned Cecil B. de Mille his first camera. . . . When he played Gen. Grant in D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation."

"I broke with Griffith because he refused to give me film credit for directing the battle scenes in that picture."

"It cost $61,000 to make the film, and I helped convince William H. Clune, a Los Angeles theater owner, to put up $43,000 of it. His estate later took out more than nine million dollars from that one picture."

Looking back across the years, Crisp believes George Arliss was the most fascinating character he ever met.

"He had an old-school polish, a charm that now belongs to a forgotten world," he said.

"As a man grows older he finds it harder to accept the new world that springs up around him. Perhaps it is because he still likes to do things the way he was taught."

"But there's one thing we had in the old days that we may lack now—the willingness to try anything. Now there is something wrong."

"We have time now to make all the retakes we need, even time to teach an actress how to dress. But sometimes it all seems too manufactured."

"But my philosophy is that we're all kin, yet don't see the same, and that makes the world. You must learn tolerance for the other person's view."

Crisp has had considerable tragedy in his life. He lost two sons in World War fighting, and the death of his wife left him lonely.

Now in his still-vigorous age he is comforted by these lines from a hymn he first sang as a choir boy at 10:

"We plow the fields and scatter the seed. He paints the clouds and lights the evening star."

Wallpaper Mural Can Be Answer to 'Problem Room'

The popularity of wallpaper murals is mainly due to the fact that they can do so much for problem rooms, says designer James Seeman, one of the country's foremost authorities on wall decoration.

"But many people still feel a perfect room is required for mural decoration," he says. "A mural is more suited actually to the problem room than any other since the results are so dramatic."

Walls interrupted by protrusions, for instance, are eye sores in a room. But it is possible to decorate around them with a scenic mural, he points out and give the illusion of a flat wall. Take the long narrow hall, for instance, found as often in swank residential apartments as in tenement homes. It may offer an illusion of depth just by choosing the right mural, one with a continuing scene such as a rolling country side or seascape.

"An illusion of height may be achieved with the right mural if that is the problem," Seeman says. "Use a mural with strong vertical lines, running it directly from the baseboard." He illustrates this idea by showing a series of stylized trees, extending the upper tree top over the ceiling for some distance.

Dining rooms are usually more troublesome than other units in the home, having more broken-up wall space for some reason or another. Seeman advises following a mural directly around the room, skipping over the windows and doors as if they weren't there, and continuing the mural after each gap. "The eye will naturally follow the scenic mural, ignoring the blank spots," he says, and creating its own feeling of completeness and unity. In one dining room, furnished in early American style furniture, he used a rugged New England seacoast design.

A gay French street scene could be just the thing for the wall of a room furnished in French provincial furniture. In a Victorian living room, Seeman used a gay nineties scene.

After you've established the best design for your own particular situation, take a plumb line on the wall for proper measurement. Don't depend on door frames or ceiling lines to be accurate. Check carefully before you are stuck with an uneven wall mural.

COLUMBIANA

Council Okays Advertising For New Fire Truck Bids

COLUMBIANA — After more than two hours of discussion of specifications at its meeting on Tuesday night, village council authorized advertising for bids on a new fire truck for the village.

Principal point of contention in the sometimes heated discussion was the size of the motor for the proposed truck. Mayor E. L. Calvin held that a smaller engine than called for in the specification probably would be ample to power the truck and pump and would undoubtedly lower the purchase price of the truck.

Fire department representatives said they felt the size of engine asked was the most desirable and remarked that they had cut several items for original specifications in order to reduce the estimated cost, which is expected to be close to $20,000. Bids for a fire truck had been asked during the summer, but all were rejected. New bids will be received until noon Nov. 15.

In another action, council accepted a tiny portion of the West Manor allotment that lies within the corporate limits in order to clear the way for final platting of the Otto Souder Sr. development. The section involved is a strip of Stanton Ave., measuring 25 feet by 168 feet. Acceptance formally widens the Stanton Ave. entrance to the allotment to 50 feet, making it compatible with the remaining length of the street.

Council also heard Police Chief William McGuckin suggest it is time to advertise for a new police cruiser. He also suggested that council "entertain the thought" of retaining the present 1957 cruiser, purchased in July of that year, as a second department car. Councilman Charles Fisher suggested holding up a decision on the new car until an answer is arrived at on the fire truck purchase, since both vehicles will have to be paid for from the same fund. Council let the matter rest there.

Canton Man's Trial Resumes in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A U.S. District Court jury will resume deliberations today in the bank robbery trial of Charles A. Walker of Canton, Ohio.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict Wednesday after almost six hours of deliberation.

Walker and his family have testified Walker as one of the robbers, the day of the holdup. He is free on bonds totaling $75,000. The jury has requested rehearing today of testimony of two government witnesses who identified Walker as one of the robbers.

Darl Dee Parker, 27, also of Canton, has also been indicted for armed robbery in the same case.

The monumental novel first appeared in Italy in Italian last year and was published in the United States last month.

Tragedy of Russia

The 700-page book has for its hero Yuri Andreyevich Zhivago, a wealthy doctor and writer who tells, through literary bits he left behind, of the tragedy of Russia in this century.

Critics have hailed its sweeping breadth and placed it in the tradition of Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

The award was made by the 18 members of the Royal Swedish Academy of Letters from funds provided in the will of the late Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

The citation said it was given for Pasternak's "important achievement both in contemporary lyrical poetry and in the field of the great Russian epic tradition."

In an obvious attempt to forestall Soviet criticism, Dr. Anders Oesterling, permanent secretary of the Swedish Academy, said the author's writing is "high above all political party frontiers." Other members of the academy said they viewed "Doctor Zhivago" as one of the great philosophical novels of our time.

GOP nominee for U.S. congressman from the 18th District, said that he is shooting for the "upset of the year." The tall, white-haired, former sports writer said that he is campaigning in a "Republican Badland" (Jefferson county) and will not have as "easy a time as Hunston."

Speaking of the situation in Europe, Wallace said he'd like to "let the little nations go Communist and let them see how they like it. No nation," he added, "has ever dominated all of Europe."

Wallace said he is for a man's right to work, but he doesn't think the present proposal is the way to go about it.

"The best way to solve it," Wallace said, "is to solve it through Washington. Within the union it's hard, and by this type of legislation, labor turmoil is brought about."

Chairman of the GOP dinner was James Primm, city chairman of the Republican party.

Wade A. Loop was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner, and the executive committee of the Republican Women's Club served as hostesses.

Area GOP candidates were introduced by James McSweeney, county Republican chairman. McSweeney praised the "coffee cups" held by the Republican women and said that the "vote depends on the women."

ment with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler on the issue of Southern Democrats who oppose the party's stand on civil rights.

Truman, who winds up his current campaign tour in Boston today, said: "I am not reading anyone out of the Democratic party. I want all the people in the Democratic party."

Butler suggested last weekend that Southern Democrats who disagree with the party's civil rights stand either join the Republicans or form a new party.

Butler denied in Washington that he had attempted to read anyone out of the party and expressed confidence millions of Southerners will continue to vote Democratic.

Winding up his 5,300-mile speaking tour, Eisenhower said the Democrats can offer nothing but "deadlocked government."

Americans have become more prosperous than ever before during the six years he has been in office, he said.

cently began to force peasants out of private home life and into communal living.

American officials considered the statement of extreme importance in reassuring America's allies that Chiang's government is prepared to restrain itself. European and other allies have feared the Nationalists would launch a military attempt to recapture the mainland which would drag the United States into war with Red China and possibly lead to World War III.

Reaffirmed Recognition

The communique reaffirmed U.S. recognition of the Nationalist government as "the authentic spokesman for free China and the hopes and aspirations entertained by the great mass of the Chinese people."

In an apparent reference to earlier U.S. desires for withdrawal of part of the 100,000-man garrison on Quemoy, the communique said after the Communists ceased firing, it had been hoped the talks could give primary consideration "to measures which could have contributed to stabilizing an actual situation of nonmilitancy."

With resumption of the Red bombardment, Nationalist sources said, Dulles did not raise the question of troop withdrawals.

Popular Candidate for 7th District Court of Appeals Has Boundless Energy

Judge Ford Firm Believer In the Golden Rule

By GLENN WAIGHT

CHARDON, Ohio — A balding young man bounced up the wrought iron stairs of the Geauga County Courthouse, his black judicial robe trailing from under his arm.

Robert B. Ford, probate judge, was in a quiet hurry—to complete his regular duties, to finish a juvenile court case over which he presided, then to get to Ashtabula where he is on extra assignment, and to keep pushing his campaign to be elected to the 7th District Court of Appeals.

At 37, one of the youngest jurists in Ohio, Judge Ford aspires to be the first member of the Appellate Court from the rolling, maple-studded hills of Geauga County. And he and a lot of others at Chardon, the county seat, think he has a good chance.

In fact, most of the county leaders seem less concerned about the November election—in which Judge Ford faces John Donahue of Youngstown—than they are about who will replace the sincere, hard-working resident of nearby Burton who has left quite a record in the 89-year-old courthouse.

SINCE BEING appointed to the probate bench in 1953 by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to fill an unexpired term, Judge Ford has three notable accomplishments.

He has helped prepare a state law permitting probate judges to serve in the absence of Common Pleas judges; he has reorganized the county record system, making Geauga County the first in the state to have a current microfilm program, and has cracked down on slovenly dress and conduct at juvenile hearings.

Judge Ford, who is 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 195 pounds ("20 pounds too much—I can't look at food without gaining") turned to law under the influence of family tradition.

He is a great-grandson of E. B. Ford, governor of Ohio in 1849-51, and a great-grandnephew of Peter Hitchcock, famed member of the Ohio Supreme Court.

HE WAS born Oct. 4, 1921, at Zanesville, but now resides at Burton—10 miles south of Chardon—where his great-grandfather, John Ford, moved to the Western Reserve from Connecticut in 1804 and served as justice of the peace and director of the first bank established at Warren.

"In the past 150 years men of the family have been either lawyers or businessmen," Judge Ford explains. His father, Ralph Ford, 73, still holds a clerical post at Cleveland.

The family moved from Zanesville in 1922 to Erie, where Bob Ford attended school, being graduated from Strong Vincent High School in 1933. He was on the swimming team at high school which won state recognition in rugged water polo competition.

His grades in high school were "good to average—I got A's in Latin, chiefly because my father was a great Latin reader." The family moved to Burton in 1938 and young Ford enrolled at Ohio State University, majoring in political science and taking history as a minor.

He began aiming for a law degree during his sophomore year, and buckled down to work. He held two jobs—one with a radio research organization and another with the university news bureau which reported student activities to hometown newspapers. He also waited on tables to supplement his income.

ON THE campus, he met Alice Ann Jones of Steubenville, who was studying to be a teacher. A year after he had received his bachelor's degree, he was married to the lovely Miss Jones and commissioned to the U. S. Army. He had joined the ROTC at Ohio

State, and, with the demand for manpower in 1942, he was hurriedly made a second lieutenant in the field artillery and transported to Ft. Bragg, N.C., within three days after his graduation—not even being given time to visit home.

In the service for almost five years, he served in Europe for 18 months with the 153rd Field Artillery. He saw combat in France, Belgium and Germany, his five battle stars representing such action as the snow-driven "Bulge" and the deadly Hurtgen Forest. He was discharged a major in 1946, having received the Bronze Star.

In 1947, he enrolled at Western Reserve University to study law. In two years he was awarded his degree and admitted to the bar. His wife, who had earned a degree in education, had taught at Tiltonsville and later at Burton.

He began a private practice at Burton and was employed by the Cuyahoga Title & Trust Co. He also served a term on Burton's Council and a term as village solicitor.

IN 1953, Probate Judge Harold Richmond was named Common Pleas judge when that post became vacant and the probate bench was offered to Mr. Ford. He turned it down once, uncertain about giving up his practice, but others pressured him, and he went down to Columbus to talk with the governor, who had heard about the young attorney's ability. In February, the appointment was made, and Judge Ford donned his robe.

Once he began his duties, he held no qualms about his new career, and in 1954 successfully ran for the full six-year term.

Since Geauga County had only one Common Pleas judge, the activities of that court were suspended when Judge Richmond was away on assignment, on vacation or ill.

Realizing other smaller counties were similarly inconvenienced, Judge Ford began to promote legislation enabling probate judges to serve on the Common Pleas bench since they had the same educational background, salary and general ability.

With B. A. Broughton, Ford helped work out a bill which was passed by the General Assembly and has resulted in expediting the operation of courts in Geauga and other smaller Ohio counties.

JUDGE FORD also pushed the revamping of the county records system obtaining a change in a ruling by the attorney general's office along with a special approval of the state auditor before the microfilming program was put into operation.

The most publicized achievement of the young jurist has been his handling of juvenile cases, especially his banning blue jeans and black leather jackets at hearings.

Judge Ford, who has committed a high school student to a penal institution for attacking a teacher ordered that no "costumes of defiance" would be worn in delinquency hearings. He refuses to hear cases until the young people are properly attired and in good behavior. He warns parents they face the risk of a contempt charge should a hearing be postponed twice because of improper dress or conduct, and their child may be taken from them.

The judge demands children and parents be on time, clothing be clean, hair well-groomed and all behave in a respectful manner. Ruled out are Levi-type trousers, decorated black leather jackets, engineers boots and 6-inch or 8-inch trouser cuffs. Girls must wear dresses or skirts, no slacks. Judge Ford says the rules are not designed to enforce conformity of dress.

He feels that too many "otherwise decent children adopt such costumes of defiance because they are afraid or lack parental guidance." He says "the court will not tolerate a mode of dress established by the least desirable element of the juvenile population."

The judge says he is no expert on juvenile delinquency, and adds, "There is no magic solution, because it is a complex problem and the solution must necessarily be complex."

THE BROKEN home cannot always be the scapegoat, he says. "Each case stands by itself, since there are thousands of contributing problems and an equal number of answers." The common source of trouble is "the breach of the Golden Rule," he declares.

"If parents and children would live by the Golden Rule, the battle against delinquency would be won."

Judge Ford's juvenile policies have not gone unnoticed. Some have called his code too strict, but as a Burton businessman said, "A lot of people think he hasn't gone far enough with some of these young people."

A New Jersey assistant superintendent of schools wrote the judge, "You have taken a firmly judicial and highly appropriate stand." A California newspaper commented editorially, "There is food for thought for a number of San Bernardino County judges in this example set for the judicial fraternity by the Ohio court."

Judge Ford and his wife and two sons, Bob, 13, and Tom, 8, live in an apartment over a two-car garage next to the rambling frame home of his parents on the east edge of Burton a quiet village whose square often rings with the clapping of horses and wagons of Amish farmers.

JUDGE FORD had the stable of the old home—built in 1870—converted into the apartment-garage after he returned to the village from the service. His wife's activities are limited by a heart condition, and the judge's spare time is chiefly spent at home.

Son Tom is a third-grade pupil at Burton, while Bob is in ninth grade at Western Reserve Academy—"on a scholarship, not by virtue of wealth" smiles the jurist whose salary is $7,200.

The judge's day begins about 6:45. He gets to the Courthouse about 8:15 to clear away paperwork before hearings get under way. Probate duties concerned with wills and estates give way to juvenile problems on Thursdays.

Besides filling in on the Common Pleas bench when needed, he also is placed on assignment in Ashtabula County Probate Court, where he has been working three and four days a week this fall.

When not tackling briefs and references at home, the judge reads newspapers, a news magazine and tries to finish a novel about twice a month. In the summer he swims with his sons and occasionally gets in a game of tennis at a nearby public court.

He attends the Congregational Church, and is a member of the Masonic Lodge. He had been in Boy Scout work, serving on the Northeast Ohio Council. He has been reducing some of his activities, however, to meet increased responsibilities at home and the demanding court post.

Why is he seeking the appellate seat? "It is an advancement, a step up. I like being a judge, and I like judicial work. I think I am competent and can do a good job," he replies frankly.

THE JUDGE, who never had a case before the Appeals Court as a lawyer, points out, "My experience as a judge, not only in my home county but in others, is a definite asset. Of course, legal training and practice of law are statutory requirements, but judicial skills, techniques, knowledge and temperament are acquired, improved and perfected by being a judge. With this experience, performance is a matter proved in the record; without it, there can be only promises."

Apparently hesitant about citing his chief attributes for holding the appellate post, the judge continued, "I have an open mind, the physical stamina and sufficient background and training for the position." He says his comparative youth is no handicap in the contest for such a high court job. His opponent is 47. Judge Ford says, "I'm ready to face the difficult task, and plan to work and study and work."

More than one million people reside in the 13-county court district which includes Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Lake, Mahoning, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Geauga, Portage, Harrison, Belmont, Noble and Monroe counties.

Judge Ford has been given strong support in his home county where the bar association has passed a resolution stating, "He has demonstrated a combination of physical and mental vigor with a judicial temperament that is indeed well-suited to the growing and exacting demands of the 7th District Court of Appeals."

ELSEWHERE in the district he is being supported by many lawyers and other judges, especially those jurists on higher courts. Since the May Republican primary, the judge has attended meetings or consulted with members of bar groups in 11 counties, been at 8 county fairs, and numerous meetings, traveling 4,000 miles in his campaign, besides handling his regular and extra duties.

Mr. Ford is not after the job simply to give northeastern Ohio a member of the court, which now includes Judge Lynn Griffith of Warren and Judge Elmer Phillips of Youngstown.

His earnest attitude in the campaign somehow imparts the feeling that he wants to serve because he has been a good judge and will be a good judge, with all the hard work and judicial deliberation the post requires.

Salem meanwhile has downed Ravenna 34-0, Canton Timkin 21-0, Wooster 33-0, and Wellsville 48-8, while losing to Cleveland John Marshall 19-12 and to Brookfield 26-16.

East has scored 100 points to its opponents' 34 while Salem's team scoring record is an accumulative 164-53.

EAST operates from a straight T formation with the emphasis on power plays. Halfback Alfred Jackson, who is 5-9 and 180, runs the ball usually two or three times out of four tries up the middle. Their outside runner is another halfback, Willie Rogers, who goes 5-9 and 150.

Bear quarterback Joe DiPasqua has been described by one Youngstown sportswriter as "sufficient," "so-so" and "decent." Providing he is telling the truth East's attack it can be assumed is basically a grind 'em out ground game. At least their low winning scores testify to this.

Dick Canacci, a 5-10, 180-pound mainstay on East's line, is now in the Alliance City Hospital with injuries received in an auto crash. His playing tomorrow is doubtful.

East is a good second half team. Although their wins over South and Mooney were close they were even closer at the half.

FULLBACK Lou Slaby and halfback Ralph Ehrhart will carry Salem's running game to the Bears. Slaby is averaging 6.2 yards a carry while Ehrhart is running the ball at a fantastic 8.0 clip per try.

The Quaker passing attack has proved very adequate in the past three games.

Kent Malloy has hit on 14 of 28 passes for 290 yards and one touchdown.

The Bears have a line which averages 192 while their backs go around 164. Salem's line averages out to 180 while their backs are 165.

East has beaten all six of its foes inside Youngstown. This is therefore their first test outside their city limits. A huge Youngstown delegation is expected on hand to cheer the Bears onward to an anticipated seventh straight win.

Enthusiasm among Salem fans for a victory was slowly climbing to its peak with the announcement that the Boosters Club will hold a pep rally in Reilly Stadium tonight.

It will be the first outside rally of the year. The Quakers could add a big feather to their cap with a win over the 7th ranked Bears.

Elgin Baylor Stars In Pro Cage Debut

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It took All-American Elgin Baylor just eight seconds to get on the scoreboard in his first pro basketball game and just one night to fire the fancy of Minneapolis Laker fans.

The 6-6 rookie from Seattle University scored 25 points in his National Basketball Assn. debut Wednesday night in steering the Lakers to a walkaway 99-79 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

The smoothly-coordinated collegiate star, who drew some $20,000 for signing with a team that is out of business if the bonus boy can't bring in the crowds, bagged 10 of 21 field goal tries, 5 of 7 free throws, gathered 13 rebounds and had 6 assists.

Jack Parr, former Kansas State ace, also showed to advantage in his league debut. He scored 14 points for the Royals and was topped only by Dave Piontek with 17. The New York Knickerbockers also made news in the NBA by obtaining Frank Selvy, former All-American from Furman, from the St. Louis Hawks for their second draft choice next spring and by defeating Philadelphia 109-108 in an exhibition game.

The Knicks will be the fourth club Selvy has played with since 1954. He was drafted by the defunct Baltimore Bullets, moved to Milwaukee when the Baltimore clubs folded, went with the Hawks to St. Louis when the Milwaukee franchise was transferred and played with Minneapolis last season on a lend-lease basis.

NCAA Committee Drops Penalties

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana and West Virginia have been restored to good standing by the NCAA after serving one-year probationary periods.

The NCAA policy - directing council made the announcement Wednesday in ending a three-day session.

Indiana's penalty followed Big Ten action last year when Hoosier Football Coach Phil Dickens was suspended for the season for violating Big Ten recruiting rules.

West Virginia's case concerned a violation of expense rules in the recruiting of a basketball player. The council did not impose any additional disciplinary action on any other NCAA member. This was the first time in 12 meetings since 1954 it has not taken such measures.

However, 15 cases are pending and 20 others are in a state of preliminary investigation. Eight schools remain under varying degrees of NCAA punishment — UCLA, Southern California, Seattle, Auburn, North Carolina State, Southern Methodist, Wichita and Memphis State.

In other main items of business the council:

1. Proposed that any college athletic staff member should be considered guilty of unethical conduct if he were compensated for scouting or negotiating for professional teams.

2. Ruled, effective upon circulation among the members, that any athlete receiving direct or indirect financial aid from a professional sports organization will be ineligible for collegiate athletics.

Tom Ferrick Named Phils' Pitching Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Baseball's Tom Ferrick is coming back to Philadelphia and there isn't a happier coach in the game. Ferrick, who has made his permanent home here since his rookie days with the old Athletics back in 1941, was named pitching coach of the Phillies by Manager Eddie Sawyer Wednesday.

He had been with Birdie Tebbets in Cincinnati since 1953, but has been available since Birdie's resignation as Redlegs' manager.

"My first concern was to stay in baseball and I am joining a fine organization. Then, too, it's nice to be able to live at home. The bigger your family gets, the harder it is to move them from the baseball season," the 43-year-old moud veteran said.

University of Pittsburgh Seeks Upset Over Top-Ranked Army

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's football team is pulling out all stops for Saturday's game here with unbeaten Army. The Panthers have several reasons.

For one thing a victory would give Pitt the prestige of whipping the nation's No. 1 ranked team.

For another, the game will go a long way toward deciding the eventual winner of the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern football supremacy. Army, winner in four games, and Pitt with a 4-1 record, currently are one-two in the weekly balloting.

Pitt Coach John Michelosen figures, quite naturally, his biggest problem will be stopping Army's fabulous halfback duo of Pete Dawkins and Bob Anderson and "lonesome end" Bill Carpenter.

"Lonesome George," said Michelosen making up his own tag, "kept me awake trying to figure a way to defense him. He's so fast you almost have to use two men to cover him. And he can come in diagonally for a quick pass or go deep."

If Michelosen has figured a way to stop the Cadets, who last week regained the national lead in total offense, he's keeping it under wraps.

In a radical departure for Pitt, the Panthers have opened up their offense considerably. Quarterback Ivan Tomicic is especially prone to relay on aerials. He has completed 20 of 30 heaves, including three for touchdowns.

Auburn Leads Nation in 3 Departments

By The Associated Press
Auburn had its long winning streak broken by a 7-7 tie with Georgia Tech last week but that didn't stop the Plainsmen from adding to their prestige as a rock-ribbed defensive football unit.

The Plainsmen now lead the nation's major colleges in rushing defense, passing defense and total defense, the first time any team has set the pace in all three departments.

Auburn is ahead of its championship pace of last year. It has allowed an average of 48.3 yards a game rushing and 44.8 yards passing for a total of 93, compared with its respective figures of 65.8, 72 and 147.8 a year ago at this time. The current total defense is the best since the 1947 Penn State team's four-game average of 69.8. Figures were released today by National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York.

Only two teams — Oregon and Mississippi — have allowed fewer points than Auburn. Oregon has yielded 12 points, and Mississippi 14. Auburn and Colorado are next with 15 each, followed by Army with 16 an LSU with 22.

Auburn achieved the pass defense lead despite the fact Tech completed 8 of 10 tosses Saturday. They were good for only 71 yards, however, Purdue, climbing from fifth to second in total defense, held Michigan State to 38 rushing yards and 65 through the air.

Tulsa, rolling for 561 yards in swamping Drake Saturday for the best offensive performance of the week, also turned in the best defensive performance. It held the Iowans to minus two yards on land to move from fourth to second in rushing defense.

Syracuse jumped from 38th to 10th in total defense by limiting Nebraska to 11 yards rushing and 30 passing.

Jordan Wins Split Decision Over Ortega

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Young Don Jordan of Los Angeles today emerged as the next probable title opponent of world welterweight champion Virgil Akins.

Jordan scored a split decision over Gaspar (Indian) Ortega of Tijuana, Mexico, in an unusual charity fight in 12 rounds Wednesday night. Today negotiations for formal contracts were opened for a title fight in Los Angeles Dec. 5. Jordan outpointed Ortega in the view of Referee Frankie Van and Judge Tommy Hart, each scoring it 116-114 under California's 10-point-must per round system. Judge Lee Grossman had Ortega on top 115-113.

The nationally televised fight was the 46th win in 55 bouts for 23-year-old Jordan and the 14th loss in 62 matches for Ortega.

There were no knockdowns but it was an action-packed contest. Jordan weighed 143½ and Ortega 145½.

The fight was staged in the grand ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel, recent residence of beauties in the Miss Universe Contest.

More than 1,000 members of the Optimist Club and the sports minded Century Club paid $25 for a steak dinner and as the tickets read, "a night of boxing."

Army, Navy, SMU Have 'Big' Men Under Wraps

Many Top Gridders Are Out of College Lineups

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

You could take the cream of the college football players laid up with injuries this season and come up with a pretty formidable All America team, just about as formidable as the problems the coaches face in replacing them.

Down in the Southwest, Southern Methodist Coach Bill Meek first lost end and star punter Dave Sherer in the opener against Ohio State. The next weekend he lost quarterback and ace passer Don Meredith against Notre Dame.

Meek hoped to have both ready for Georgia Tech this weekend. Army, with its limited manpower, is hurting for its game with Pitt. Fullback Harry Walters is out with a sprained ankle. The condition of halfback Pete Dawkins' charley horse won't be known until Friday.

Meantime, Coach Red Blaik is doing some wild reshuffling in the Army backfield.

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz said Wednesday that he had to rebuild his line after losing starting ends John Kanuch and Tom Hyde last Saturday against Tulane. All America tackle Bob Reifsnyder hasn't played since injuring his ankle in fall practice. Two fourth stringers a month ago, Paul Manokowicz and George Bezek, took over the end slots as the Tars prepped for Penn.

Iowa State, unable to score in its last nine quarters of play, is without a regular kicker, according to Coach Clay Stapleton. Two punters, Cliff Rick and John Scheldrup, are both injured as the team preps for Missouri.

Virginia's quarterback and aerial ace Reece Whitley, who missed the Army game last week, is also out of the Vanderbilt game Saturday. Fred Russell is Whitley's probable replacement.

Princeton and Cornell meet Saturday in a game that will go a long way towards deciding the Ivy League winner. Princeton welcomes back star tailback Dan Sachs and tackle Frank Schultz, while the Big Red may have halfback and Capt. Bob Hazzard for spot service. Sachs was injured two weeks ago against Penn. Schultz has not played at all due to head injuries, nor has Hazzard because of a knee injury.

Notre Dame added fullback Nick Pietrosante to its injury list that includes co-captains Al Ecuyer and Chuck Puntillo, while Syracuse's star tackle Ron Luciano is out of the Penn State game with a virus infection.

On the credit side, Ohio State should have its starting backfield intact for Saturday's game with Wisconsin, for the first time since the season's opener as quarterback Frank Kremblas is reported in perfect condition. Dick LeBeau, Bob White and Don Clark also have been plagued by injuries in the first four games.

But Boston College can't say the same for quarterback Don Allard, expected to miss the Miami game Saturday. He has been out with a shoulder injury since Sept. 29. Georgia Tech, who uses the quick kick the way some teams use the forward pass, lost Joe Delany, its quickkick artist, with a sprained ankle, and he may miss the SMU game Saturday.

Education Group Hits Ohio Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than 50,000 students are either at- tending schools in split sessions or receiving lessons in non-classroom facilities, the Ohio Education Assn. says.

An association state-wide survey showed critical school housing problems in 132 districts.

"Ohio schools are in much more serious trouble than is generally realized," said T. G. O'Keefe, OEA research director.

O'Keefe said some school dis- tricts have been forced to convert store rooms, garages, coal rooms, locker rooms, gymnasiums and teachers' rest rooms into class rooms.

The survey also showed 12,888 pupils attending classes in build- ings other than schools. Churches are the most widely used facility, although office buildings and even private dwellings have been pres- sed into service.

The survey also brought out that 14,324 pupils in 16 districts are attending split, multiple or double sessions.

Glass Workers Talks Reach Deadlock

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bargain- ing affecting 25,000 employees of Pittsburgh Plate and Libbey-Owens- Ford glass companies continued deadlocked today on incentive pay rates and other issues.

The United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union and the two com- panies renewed negotiations here Wednesday. Talks were broken off when the strike was called Oct. 11.

Neither side has disclosed de- mands or offers, but a company spokesman had said prior to the bargaining here that wages were not the main cause of the dispute.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Vitamin A Needed for Growth, Vision

As the sun begins to set low in the northern hemisphere and the days get shorter, the thoughts of more and more people—particularly parents—turn toward vitamins.

They wonder how to get the vitamins they need in their food, whether they should take vitamin preparations bought in a drug store, and if so, which vitamins they should buy. The subject is complex.

VITAMINS are complicated chemical substances which are needed in small quantities to maintain life and health in the human body and which are not made at all by the body itself, or frequently are not manufactured in sufficient quantities.

There are a great many vitamins which are still named after the letters of the alphabet because the early students of the subject started that way.

Virtually all of the vitamins needed by the body are present in one kind of food or another. In countries like Canada and the United States, where a wide variety of foodstuffs is available, most all the needed vitamins can be obtained from the diet alone, providing there is proper selection.

The many vitamins known and analyzed have differing actions. Some of them are really best known by what happens to the body when insufficient quantities are consumed. In some the exact part they played is still poorly understood.

Besides knowing something of what vitamins can do, everyone should realize that there are a great many things which they cannot do.

THEY ARE NOT cure-alls. They will not stop falling hair, restore virility, or prevent or cure the common cold. Too many people, I believe, look on vitamins as though taking enough of them would somehow prevent all kinds of ill health and lengthen the life span.

Vitamin A is essential for the normal growth of bones and teeth, is necessary for vision under dim light, and is also needed for the health of certain tissues such as the eyes.

It occurs in two varieties, the vitamin itself and what is known as carotene, from which the body can manufacture the vitamin.

Vitamin A proper is found only in certain foods of animal origin such as eggs, whole milk, cheese, kidney, and liver. Certain fish oils are particularly rich in vitamin A.

THE BEST SOURCES of carotene are some of the dark green, leafy and yellow vegetables such as carrots, turnip and collard greens, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, broccoli, tomatoes and peaches. Vitamin A in the form of carotene is more easily destroyed in the intestinal tract than vitamin A itself, though both are able to withstand the ordinary processes of cooking.

As a general rule, those who live in areas where animal foods are readily available get an adequate amount of vitamin A without needing drug store supplements.

However, a person who sees poorly in the dim light might blindness may profit by giving special attention to obtaining adequate quantities of vitamin A or carotene.

SPACE-AGE STATE — The Navy is building a giant 60-million-dollar radio telescope, which hears instead of sees, at Sugar Grove, W.Va. Another use could be to bounce secret messages off the moon for ships at sea. Thirty miles away, at Green Bank, the National Science Foundation is erecting two radio telescopes for basic research for 9.5 million dollars.

THE WINNER — A tree that won a "beauty" contest, this towering white spruce will grace New York City's Rockefeller Center during the Christmas season. The 64-foot-tall tree, found in East Madison, Maine, was selected as the perfect spruce after a search of nearly six months. It will be decorated with 1,000 plastic globes and 3,900 bulbs for its Manhattan appearance.

Ham Croquette

One and one-third cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 2-3 cup uncooked white rice, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 5 tablespoons allpurpose flour, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper, 3 cups milk, 1 can (4 ounces) deviled ham, 2 tablespoons finely grated onion, 2 tablespoons finely chopped dill pickle, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup grated sharp cheese, 1 egg, well beaten; 1 cup fine soda cracker crumbs.

Put the water, 1 teaspoon of salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a boil. Turn low. Cover. Simmer 14 minutes. Remove saucepan from heat but leave lid on 10 minutes. While rice cooks, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in the flour, 1 teaspoon of the salt and the black pepper. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, for several minutes. Do not brown.

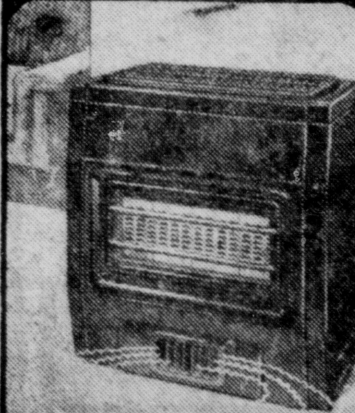

Slowly stir in 2 cups of the milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture becomes very thick. Stir the deviled ham, onion, dill pickle, Worcestershire and 1 cup of the thick white sauce into the rice. Mix well.

Divide into 6 portions of about 1/2 cup each. Place on a platter or pan. Cover. Cool. Chill in the refrigerator. Stir the remaining 1 cup of milk and the sharp cheese into the rest of the white sauce. Heat slowly, stirring, until the cheese melts. Cool.

Cover and chill. A short time before mealtime, shape the rice mixture into three or cone-shaped croquettes. Roll first in the egg, then in the cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat at 370 degrees F. until golden brown on all sides. Drain on absorbent paper. Keep hot in a warm oven. Reheat the cheese sauce over hot water. Serve the croquettes with the hot cheese sauce. (6 servings)

Cookies Make a Witch's House

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's an amusing novelty for the youngsters' Halloween party—a witch's house made with mince-meat cookies.

For the house: two 9 x 12 pieces of cardboard for the side walls; two 9 x 8 pieces for the end walls; two 12 x 6 pieces for the roof. Turn an inch under on both sides of the end walls and join to the side walls with staples, adhesive tape or paper clips. When the four walls are in position, turn on one side. Cover the top wall with enough water to confectioners' sugar to make a thick spreading consistency. Place the cookies three rows of four 2-inch cookies, with one omitted for a window if desired. Let the frosting "set" thoroughly, then turn house to other side and continue spreading frosting and placing cookies. Finally, do same with the roof.

Easy Mince-meat Cookies Yield: about 5 dozen 2-inch cookies, enough in batches to cover and fill house.

One package cookie mix, one 9-ounce package condensed mince-meat, 2 tablespoons grated cheese rind, if desired.

Mix cookies according to directions. Add orange rind and condensed mince-meat broken into small pieces. Mix thoroughly. Bake as directed in teaspoonfuls, so that cookies are about 2 inches in diameter.

Mince Meat Cookies Makes about 60 two-inch cookies

New Topping Mix for Desserts

In a few days there will be a new dessert topping mix on the market. It is easy to prepare, inexpensive and relatively low in calories. You can use it either as a topping or as an ingredient in Bavarian pies, puddings and frozen desserts.

One package will make 2 cups of topping. It will sell for between 23 and 27 cents at your local market. The manufacturer says it is a dream, well, let's wake up and see for ourselves.

Almond Rice Cream (Makes about 4 servings)
Two-thirds cup packaged precooked rice, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons sherry, if desired; 1/4 cup toasted rice occasionally with fork. Remove from heat. Cool; then add vanilla, sherry, if desired, and almonds, if desired.

Quick method: About 1 hour before serving, cook rice as directed above. Cool 10 to 15 minutes and add vanilla almonds. Then spoon mixture into refrigerator freezing tray and chill in freezing unit for 15 to 20 minutes. Whip dessert topping mix. Stir rice mixture, fold in dessert topping, and serve at once. Or store in refrigerator until ready to serve.

When using a sodium perborate bleach for stubborn stains, make the solution hot or cool depending on the fabric. A solution of one tablespoon per pint of water should cover the garment and be cool for wool, silk and dyed. Use a hot solution with other washables, and let the garment soak several hours or overnight.

Brown Chicken Stew

Ingredients: 1 broiler-fryer cut into serving-size pieces, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 cup chopped (2 small) onion, 1 clove garlic, crushed, 2 chicken bouillon cubes, 2 cups boiling water.

Method: Wash and dry chicken. Mix together the flour, salt, paprika; coat chicken thoroughly with mixture. Melt 1 tablespoon of the butter in a 10-inch skillet; add onions; brown lightly and remove. Add remaining 3 tablespoons of butter to the skillet; when very hot add chicken; sprinkle chicken with any leftover flour mixture. Brown chicken on both sides. Add browned onion and garlic to skillet. Dissolve bouillon cubes in water and add. Cover and simmer until chicken is tender—about 30 to 45 minutes. Any small amount of fat may be skimmed off gravy slightly thickened. Makes 4 servings.

Amateur painters may find it cheaper to use a good piece of scrap wallboard for early efforts. Before the first strokes, though, seal the pores with shellac. When the first coat is dry, give the wallboard another coat.

Wherever Mother goes, Baby goes—even to the beach or lake. To keep him warm from breezes or protect him from hot sun slip him into a terry cloth coverall. It's easy to make and simple to wash.

Personalize a gift by outlining the receiver's name on ribbon while gift wrapping. This is easily done and without too much fuss. For hanging purposes, securely pin ribbon at both ends. Then write the name in glue and sprinkle with sequins. Leave until glue dries.

Orange Loaf

Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, grated rind of one orange, 3/4 cup rolled oats, quick or regular, 1-3 cup raisins rinsed in hot water and drained, 1-3 cup chopped walnuts, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1/2 cup milk, 1-3 cup butter or margarine melted.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in orange rind, rolled oats, raisins and walnuts. Add eggs, orange juice, milk and melted butter; stir just until ingredients are moistened.

Turn into buttered pan 9 by 5 by 3 inches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. To frost, mix 2 cups confectioners sugar with 2 tablespoons orange juice and spread over top of cool loaf. Serve with cream cheese spread. Unfrosted loaf is delicious sliced, toasted and spread with butter.

Russians Are Curious About American Ways

Fear of Siberia Remains in Soviet Minds

Third in series
By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The clammy fear of the mid-night knock on the door is gone from the Soviet Union, but the memory lingers.

A few years ago the average Russian wouldn't dare talk to an American on the street. Today an American can't step out of Moscow's Metropol Hotel without being besieged by Russians asking out.

for everything from chewing gum to Glenn Miller records.

A block or two farther away the more serious ones fall into step. They'll ask you for American magazines or shirts.

In the last several months some have even started offering to buy American dollars. Even under relaxed Soviet laws they are risking Siberia. Or—you never know—they may be just testing you out.

Many of the people who approach you just want to talk to a real, live American. They might even join you for lunch. Few will go beyond that.

Despite the Kremlin's protestations of peaceful coexistence and freedom for all, the people still have some of the feeling of the days when association with a foreigner was a crime.

"I think it's perfectly all right for us to meet now," one Russian told me, "but you never know. Things may change again."

"You never know," seems to be the present state of mind in Russia.

A few Russians visited our Moscow apartment. Some wanted to go badly they didn't care about the militiaman (Soviet policeman) who guarded our door and checked out visitors 24 hours a day. You never knew if they were bold, or had reason not to worry.

All of them wanted to read magazines, listen to records and talk about life in the United States, art, music and similar topics.

Earlier this year Komsomolskaya Pravda, guardian of youthful Soviet morals, denounced some young Russians for such associations. I saw one of them a few months later. Her head had been shaved, she had been kicked out of the Komsomolskaya, the party youth organization, and was having trouble finding a job.

The charge: aping Americans, immoral behavior and giving out information.

Association with Americans, which the Kremlin has officially favored since Stalin's death, sometimes produces reverse results.

John Baker, a young American Embassy official, was declared persona non grata and expelled from the Soviet Union a few months after he started attending classes at Moscow University, and making friends.

That was called behavior unbefitting a diplomat. There was no other charge.

Some of the ordinary people talk with amazing frankness. They love their anecdotes, that amazing Russian safety valve that lets off steam with every turn of the party line.

One of the anecdotes describes the Communist type catechism Soviet children go through on entering the Pioneers, the kiddies' party organization.

"Who is your mother?" the boys are asked.

"The Communist party, for it takes care of all our needs," they answer ritually.

"And who is your father?"

"Nikita Sergeievich Khrushchev."

"And what do you want to be when you grow up?"

One aspires to be a factory manager, another a scientist, the third a football star.

Comes the turn of little Ivan. He too says the party is his mother and Khrushchev his father.

And what does he want to be?

"An orphan," he replies.

The Kremlin is launched on a tightrope. When Khrushchev denounced Stalin 2½ years ago, he said, in effect: Let a little freedom grow.

A little freedom has a way of burgeoning.

In the last two years the little freedoms that the Russians won have been burgeoning only to be batted down again. So far they haven't been batted down to the level of Stalin's day.

But the Communist party is still in complete and unchallenged control, and it's not likely to anything that would jeopardize this control.
